NASAL CATARRH

THE SYSTEM.

Catarrh consists of inflammation beginning behind and a little above the veil of the palate, and extending upward into the nose and air cavities of the face. It creates a perpetual desire to swallow, and causes a leeling as it something was sticking in the upper and back part of the throat. As the disease becomes chronic, the matter concretes into hardened lumps, the matter secreted becomes puriform, the breath is offensive, and the voice assumes a nasal twang, while, on rising in the morning, great effort is required to c'ear the head and throat. There is often a feeling of pressure across the lower part of the forehead, causing headache, dizziness, and confusion of thought and loss of memory.

ziness, and confusion of thought and loss of memory.

The sense of smell becomes impaired, the cyes are weak, and, as the inflammation extends up the custaceian tubes into the internal ear there is partial deafness with throbing, humming or ringing noises in the ear. In sleep the Catarrhal matter is unconsciously swallowed, which, in time, deranges the stomach and impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia and a multiplicity of discordant symptoms, which are often mistaken for other diseases. To the foregoing, add the fact that every breath of air drawn into the lungs is drawn over the diseased surface, festering with Catarrhal matter, and who can deny the assertion that to neglect Catarrh is to invite Consumption:

Consumption is the one prevailing disease, at the present day, with which the young and middle-aged die. And yet very seldom do the lungs receive the primary shock. It is first "a cold in the head," which resolves into Chronic Catarrh, from which the sucet feels no alarm, until, step by step, it reaches the lungs, when all attempts at care are little better than blind experiments.

With every incentive to enjoyment and usefulness, there are hundreds all around us dying in the morning of life, of Consumption, who can look back six months, a year, or longer, as the case may be, to a time when (properly treated) a cure was possible, silently and almost imperceptibly it has transformed the bright, ruddy features of youth into the dull, wan listlessness of premuture age, as it has drunk up the vitality from the blood and fluids of the wasted frame, and now, when hope is dead, and the life forces one by one are ebbing away, the mind turns mournfully backward to "what might have been," and trenblingly for ward to what soon must be,

Let those who donbt this portrayah of eaturn question the poor consumptive, whose sun of life is going down at noon, or watch its progress upon those who neglect its timely and judicious treatment. A little while and we miss their coming; youth and health have faded from lips and cheek, the light from the eye has gone out, the hands are foldedly peaceably over the still heart—they pregons.

He proposes first, that Congress authorize the issue of compound interest notes, precisely like those with which the people are already familiar, to an extent equal to its treasury notes, say three hundred and sixty millions, or so many as may be required to redeem the greenbacks. Let them be of the denomination of five, ten, twenty and fifty dollars, with a suitable proportion of one hundred and one thousand dollars for large operations. Second, let these notes be dated on the first day of each successive month, commencing with the first day of July next, when ten millions should be made ready for issue, and an equal amount on each succeeding mouth un-til the entire quantity has been fur-nished. Third, let these notes be convertible into 10-40 bonds at five percent, like those issued, at the end of three years from date, but not before. Fourth, let Congress imperatively require that these notes and no others be paid out for all disbursements of the Treasury except those payable in coin, so long as there are sufficient to meet the wants of the Government, and if the whole monthly issues are not thus put in circulation, let the Secretary of the Treasury be required to exchange them for sury be required to exchange them for

HOOFLAND'S

GERMAN TONIC. LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

Hoofland's German Bitters Is composed of the pure fulces (or, as they are medicinally of Roots, Herbs and preparation, highly and entirely free admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever most pleasant and agreeable rentcutes of offered to the public. Those preferring Medicine free from Alco-holic admixture, will use Hoofland's German Bitters. Those who have no objection to the combination of the Bitters, as stated, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his only that which he investigations and true merit, is skil ingularies, possesses furty compounded, is free from injurious ingredieuts, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases: In this connection we would submit those weil-known remedies—

Hoofland's German Bitters,

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. PREPARED BY Dr. C. M. JACKSON, PHILADELPHIA, PA. PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Thirty-five years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver

posure, Fevers, &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system; the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests properly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eves, is bloom is given to the cheeks and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being. PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instill new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years. Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined, but with r i o u s instances, my own family, of Hoofland's Germy usual course, express my full conviction that, for general debitity of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a sife and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I don't not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.

Yours, very respectfully,

Eighth, below Coates St.

It you want to see Johnson's house If you want to see Johnson's house and tailor shop, it is necessary to leave the train at the depot. From the depot to the main street of the town it is about three hundred yards, and there is a good plank sidewalk, such as is generally found in a northern village, all the way. When you arrive on the main street, cross over, and you find yourself at the northwest corner of the court house. Right corner of the court house. Right in front of you, to the east, there is a hollow, and at the bottom of the hoilow, there is a muddy looking street called water street. Right on this street, and about a hundred yards from you, there is a small, hred yards from you. there is a small, old-looking building with one chimney. This is the famous tailor-shop where Andrew Johnson earned his bread some thirty-five years ago. Immediately to the north of it there is a somewhat larger but older building, very di-
